Commitment to the National Antimicrobial Use (AMU) Reduction & Stewardship Strategy

New-Life Mills remains committed to producing safe products in compliance with all regulatory and Canadian Food Inspection Agency requirements. In addition to this, New-Life Mills is also committed to the National Antimicrobial Use (AMU) Reduction & Stewardship Strategy that has been mandated by Chicken Farmers of Canada.

Consequently, New-Life Mills will not be using Category I or II antibiotics preventively as of December 31, 2018. We remain committed to the health and wellness of all the animals for which we produce feed. As such, any medications prescribed by flocks currently under the care of licensed veterinarians would be used in manufacture.

It is important that all producers and industry partners work together to ensure that compliance is obtained. Working to reduce the use of antibiotics in poultry production is an industry wide priority.

Should you have any questions regarding the Reduction & Stewardship Strategy, please don't hesitate to reach out to any New-Life Mills representatives.

Sincerely,
